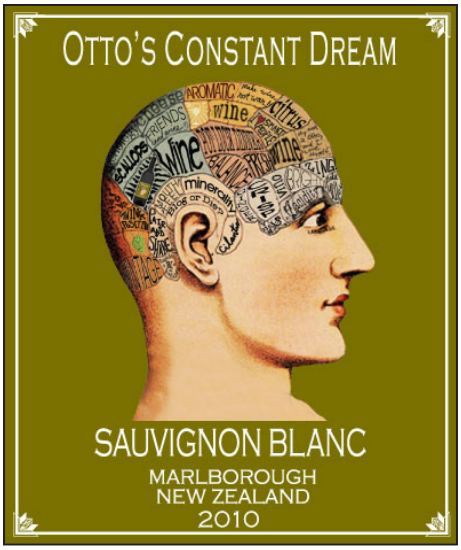
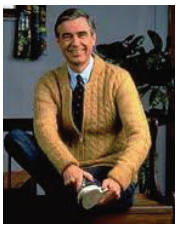
OTTO'S CONSTANT DREAM SAUVIGNON BLANC



You couldn't find a better partner to watch a weekend TV marathon of The Real Housewives of Auckland.

conceptual doppelgänger



Extremely friendly white whose mild-mannered public persona hid a complex individual who, according to legend, experimented with myriad hallucinogenic drugs. This may be apocryphal, but, as they say, 'still waters run deep.' While OCD Sauvignon Blanc has no dark side, he is about as friendly as a white can be, though will gladly show you his true colors if you really pay attention.

Producer	OCD is the wine that launched Communal Brands. Inspired by Melissa Saunders' obsessive nature about wine, her friend and future business partner, Chris Antista, created a wine in her honor: OCD. She applied said obsessive nature to find the right juice for our eponymous brand, ultimately finding a warm connection in her husband's native New Zealand. There, her wine-making counterpart, Fiona Turner, had the same passion for wine and was a proven pot stirrer capable of making the wine OCD needed to be. Add to this mix aforementioned husband and a cadre of fellow New Yorkers with a penchant for wine and games, and Otto's Constant Dream was born. The name? You'll have to ask the authorities about that ;-).
Viti/Vini	Sustainable. De-stemmed, crushed, and pressed off skins as quickly as possible. Fermentation at cool temperatures (11-15 degrees Celsius) in stainless steel vats. On lees for 8-10 days. Early bottling to maintain freshness.
